Allotment of symbols to candidates
Revised notification issued

The Election Commission has today issued a completely revised notification regarding the allotment of symbols to candidates at the forthcoming general elections.

This supersedes all previous notifications on the subject.

The Commission has designated the seven bigger parties in the country as «multi-State parties». These are: (i) the Indian National Congress, (ii) the Swatantra Party, (iii) the Communist Party of India, (iv) the Communist Party of India (Marxist), (v) the Bharatiya Jana Sangh, (vi) the Praja Socialist Party and (vii) the Samyukta Socialist Party.

These and 12 other recognised parties continue to have their reserved symbols in particular States.

A candidate duly sponsored by any of these part in a State in which it is «recognised» will be allowed the party symbol. If a multi-State party set candidates in a State in which it is not so recognised, even then its candidates will get the party symbol.

(Another notable concession is to independent members of the Lok Sabha and Vidhan Sabhas who wish to contest on the same free symbol as before. They will get the symbol in preference to other candidates who may also have asked for that symbol. The number of free symbols available in any State has, however, been limited to six.)

In each of the Union Territories of Andaman and Nicobar Islands, Chandigarh, Dadra and Nagar Haveli, and Laccadive, Minicoy and Amindivi Islands, where there will be one election to Parliament, the notification provides for four free symbols and no reserved symbol.

In a separate notification, the Commission has exclusively reserved the symbol «Mithun» for the Nagaland Nationalist Organisation in Nagaland and provided five free symbols for other candidates.

This notification does not apply to the elections in Jammu & Kashmir for which a separate notification has already been issued. In that notification symbols have been reserved for the Indian National Congress, the Bharatiya Jana Sangh, the Jammu & Kashmir National Conference and the Democratic National Conference. The symbols of the first two parties are the same as elsewhere, while the other two parties have «Plough» and «Tree», respectively, as their symbols. In addition, five free symbols have been provided for other parties and independent candidates.

Election Commission India

Notification

New Delhi, the 1st December, 1966.

In exercise of the powers conferred by sub-rule (1) of rule 5 of the Conduct of Elections Rules, 1961, and in supersession of its notification No. 56/65, dated the 2nd September, 1965 (S. O. 2787), the Election Commission notifies as follows:—

1. In this Notification, —

- (a) 'recognised party' means any political party for which a symbol is reserved in one or more States according to the Table below;
